

Endurance 35 for sale in Spain

The Endurance 35 Masthead Ketch, built in 1976, is an elegant and robust vessel. Constructed from FRP and well-maintained, it is in perfect condition. It was updated and completely prepared for crossing the Atlantic Ocean last year.

The sails are brand new. The engine has 807 hours of operation and is less than 5 years old. Recent upgrades include a new starter (with the old one retained for backup), a new clutch, shaft, and propeller, and a new water pump.

The Endurance 35 Ketch offers plentiful options for inshore and offshore cruising. It's perfect for extended passages or weekend travels with the family. It has an adorable wooden interior, an enclosed cockpit, and an interior steering position. Its stable and cozy design makes for a comfortable sailing experience, and its current pricing offers exceptional value.
