

Olympic Queen 41 sailboat in Greece

Description

The Olympic Queen 41, 1985, stands out as a distinguished sailboat blending classic design with modern functionality. This 41-foot vessel offers spacious and comfortable accommodations, ideal for extended cruising or sailing with a larger crew.

The boat's interior is thoughtfully laid out to maximize comfort and convenience. It features berths for up to eight people, with three double cabins providing cozy sleeping quarters. The spacious salon is the heart of the interior, boasting a warm and inviting atmosphere with ample seating and a dining area that benefits from plenty of natural light. The galley is fully equipped with all the necessary appliances.

For added convenience, the Olympic Queen 41 comes with two heads (bathrooms), one fitted with an electric toilet and the other with a manual one.

The inboard diesel engine Lister Petter 76hp, installed in 2016, provides reliable auxiliary power. Known for its balanced handling and good upwind performance, the Olympic Queen 41 is well-suited for various sailing conditions, from coastal cruising to longer offshore passages.

On deck, the boat's layout is designed for efficiency and safety, with quality winches, cleats, and other hardware ensuring smooth operation. Navigation and electronics are up-to-date, featuring essential instruments.
